Bauhaus. The school of art and design founded in Germany by Walter Gropius in 1919, and shut down by the Nazis in 1933. The faculty brought together artists, architects, and designers, and developed an experimental pedagogy that focused on materials and functions rather than traditional art school methodologies. An art film is typically a serious, independent film, aimed at a niche market rather than a mass market audience. It is "intended to be a serious, artistic work, often experimental and not designed for mass appeal", "made primarily for aesthetic reasons rather than commercial profit", and contains "unconventional or highly symbolic content". Film critics and film studies scholars typically ... Video art is an art form which relies on using video technology as a visual and audio medium. Video art emerged during the late 1960s as new consumer video technology such as video tape recorders became available outside corporate broadcasting. Video art can take many forms: recordings that are broadcast; installations viewed in galleries or museums; works streamed online, distributed as video ... With Therapeutic Photography *: Below is a sample of how non-therapists (as well as some therapists who prefer Therapeutic Photography practices, rather than therapy-focused ones) all over the world are using "Therapeutic Photography" * in ways that produce positive change, increased understanding of self and others, improved communications and awareness, and so forth — including Social ... - Art Of Promotion : Creating Distinction Through Innovative Production Techniques
